

The British Journal of General Practice

Editorials

- 178 General practitioners' contract: the good, the bad, and the slippery slope David R Hannay

- 179 Usefulness of telephone consultations in general practice
A N Virji

Original papers

- 181 Attitudes to medical care, the organization of work, and stress among general practitioners J G R Howie, J L Hopton, D J Heaney and A M D Porter

- 186 Patient access to general practitioners by telephone: the doctor's view Lesley Hallam

- 190 Evaluation of the use and usefulness of telephone consultations in one general practice John P Nagle, Kate McMahon, Mary Barbour and David Allen

- 194 Postgraduate education allowance: general practitioners' attendance at courses outwith their region T S Murray, G S Dyker and L M Campbell

- 197 Attitudes to and perceived use of health care services among Asian and non-Asian patients in Leicester Aly Rashid and Carol Jagger

Review article

- 202 Is there still a role for benzodiazepines in general practice?
Michael B King

William Pickles lecture 1992

- 206 What our practices teach us C van Weel

Personal view

- 210 The Royal College of General Practitioners: its growth and influence over the past 40 years J A R Lawson

- 212 Letters

- 219 Book and video review

- 220 Classified advertisements

RCGP Connection pull-out magazine included

40TH ANNIVERSARY

1952-1992