

CONTENTS

	Page
Introduction—J. Bishop Harman	1
Medicine takers and hoarders by Karen Dunnell	2
Medicine takers by Margot Jefferys	9
Psychiatric morbidity in general practice—its presentation, recognition and classification by Neil Kessel	11
Discussion	14
The prevalence and distribution of psychological illness in general practice by Michael Shepherd	16
Discussion	20
Why do doctors prescribe psychotropic drugs? by W. W. Fulton	22
Discussion	24
The doctor's role in prescribing by Marshall Marinker	26
Discussion	29
The use of sedatives and minor tranquillisers by Arthur Watts	30
Discussion	31
The use of hypnotics by John D. Pollitt	33
Discussion	35
The use of antidepressants by Peter J. Dally	38
Discussion	40
The use of major tranquillisers by W. Linford-Rees	42
Discussion	47
What influences have led to increased prescribing of psychotropic drugs? by Peter A. Parish	49
Discussion	57
Psychotropic drugs and society by G. Teeling Smith	58

Adverse reactions to psychotropic drugs	62
by O. L. Wade
Assessing the safety of medicines	67
by David Mansel-Jones
General discussion	70
A physician's view	77
by P. C. Elmes									