

The British Journal of General Practice

Editorials

- 89 Management of myocardial infarction in the community: a new RCGP study Clifford Kay
 91 Doctors and pharmacists — working together Michael Drury
 91 Under new management: business as usual Alastair F Wright

Original papers

- 94 A method for introducing standardized (simulated) patients into general practice consultations Jan-Joost Rethans, Riet Drop, Ferd Sturmans and Cees van der Vleuten
 97 Assessment of the performance of general practitioners by the use of standardized (simulated) patients Jan-Joost Rethans, Ferd Sturmans, Riet Drop and Cees van der Vleuten
 100 Case finding in elderly people: validation of a postal questionnaire Ian Bowns, David Challis and Man Sum Tong
 105 Survey of carers of elderly patients discharged from hospital E Idris Williams and Freda Fitton
 109 Hormone replacement therapy — a survey of perimenopausal women in a community setting A Z Kadri
 113 Formal complaints against general practitioners: a study of 1000 cases Colin Owen
 116 Using a notification card to improve communication between community pharmacists and general practitioners Alison Blenkinsopp, Michael Jepson and Michael Drury

Review article

- 119 Consultation length in general practice: a review Andrew Wilson

Discussion paper

- 123 Which antidepressant? Keith Matthews and John M Eagles

126 Letters

131 Book and video review

132 Classified advertisements

