

The British Journal of General Practice

Editorials

138 Antibacterial agents and urinary tract infection: a paradox
Rosalind Maskell

139 Do therapeutic interventions stand the test of time?
Joseph Herman

Original papers

141 Relationship between the working styles of general practitioners and the health status of their patients F J A Huygen, H G A Mookink, A J A Smits, J A J van Son, W A Meyboom and J Th M van Eyk

145 Patients with suspected myocardial infarction: effect of mode of referral on admission time to a coronary care unit
R A S Ahmad, S Bond, J Burke, S P Singh and R D S Watson

149 Prevalence of lower extremity arterial disease among elderly people in the community Nicholas Coni, Barry Tennison and Michael Troup

153 Self-reported health care over the past 10 years: a survey of general practitioners Ruth Chambers and John Belcher

157 Characteristics of general practitioners who are high attenders at educational meetings T S Murray, G S Dyker and L M Campbell

Case reports

160 False contraindications to childhood immunization Joan Kinder, Louise Teare, Mala Rao, Gail Bridgman and Anne Kurian

Discussion paper

162 'Will you help me with my research?' Gaining access to primary care settings and subjects Elizabeth Murphy, Nicki Spiegel and Ann-Louise Kinmonth

Personal view

166 Forty years of the RCGP: a view from outside the British Isles
Chris van Weel

168 Letters

173 Book and video review

175 Classified advertisements

40TH ANNIVERSARY

1952-1992

ISSN 0960-1643

RCGP Connection
NEW PULL-OUT
MAGAZINE
INSIDE