

The British Journal of General Practice

Editorials

- 442 Avoiding burnout in general practice Ruth Chambers

- 443 Exercise and health promotion Domhnall MacAuley

Original papers

- 445 Does sleep disturbance predict depression in elderly people? A study in inner London G Livingston, B Blizzard and A Mann

- 449 Factors influencing the career choices of general practitioner trainees in North West Thames Regional Health Authority Rosemary Beardow, Kathy Cheung and W McN Styles

- 453 Epilepsy: a general practice study of knowledge and attitudes among sufferers and non-sufferers J L Dawkins, P M Crawford and T G Stammers

- 459 Management of ophthalmic disease in general practice J H Sheldrick, A D Wilson, S A Vernon and C M Sheldrick

- 463 General practitioners' beliefs about their role in the prevention and treatment of accidents involving children Yvonne H Carter and Peter W Jones

- 467 Demographic characteristics of general practitioners attending educational meetings T S Murray, G S Dyker, M H Kelly, W H Gilmour and L M Campbell

- 470 Do general practitioners and general psychiatrists want to look after drug misusers? Evaluation of a non-specialist treatment policy Digby Tantam, Michael Donmall, Adrian Webster and John Strang

Discussion paper

- 475 Holistic medicine or the humane doctor? Bruce G Charlton

- 478 Letters

- 486 Book and video review

- 487 Classified advertisements

RCGP Connection pull-out magazine included for members

