

W1
JO 955

R. J.

The Journal of The Royal College of General Practitioners

Volume 30

Number 214

May 1980

Editorial	Teaching undergraduates in general practice
North-East London faculty lecture	The role of the hospital in teaching general practice in Holland
Practice organization	A comparison of workload and morbidity recording by partners in a group practice
Research methods	Health diaries: a method of collecting health information
	Multipractice studies: significance of the information given to participating doctors
	Multipractice studies: how representative are the participating doctors?
Attempted suicide	Self-poisoning: changing patterns in East Cheshire, 1970-1975
Why not?	Why not have a suggestions box in the surgery?
Gastro-enteritis	An epidemic of gastro-enteritis in West Lothian
General practitioner obstetrics	Pain after episiotomy — a comparison of two methods of repair
Undergraduate education	Medical student attitudes and general practice

Published by Update Publications Ltd

ISSN 0035-8797