

The Journal of The Royal College of General Practitioners

Volume 31

Number 223

February 1981

Editorials

Is obstetrics optional?
Everybody's business, nobody's responsibility?
The general practitioner research club

Obstetrics in general practice

Obstetrics and gynaecology for general practice
Obstetric retrospect
A review of the general practitioner obstetric service in Colchester 1970-1979
The connection between dystocia and dysmenorrhoea

Epidemiology in general practice

Do patients consult the doctor less often than they used to?

Prescribing in general practice

Patients' perceptions of psychotropic drugs

Psychosocial problems

The development of a district community psychology service

Why not?

Why not shed a little moss?

Published by Update Publications Ltd

ISSN 0035-8797