

The Journal of The Royal College of General Practitioners

Volume 31

Number 226

May 1981

Editorials

New British National Formulary

Leg ulcers past and present

History of medicine

Leg ulcers in the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries

Clinical work in general practice

Trimethoprim and co-trimoxazole in the treatment of acute urinary tract infections: patient compliance and efficacy

Polymyalgia rheumatica and giant cell arteritis — a difficult diagnosis

A comparison of the treatment of otitis externa with 'Otosporin' and aluminium acetate

Incontinence in the community

Management of urinary incontinence in patients with multiple sclerosis

Standards in general practice

Effectiveness and efficiency

Planning health services

Would more mental illness services help general practitioners manage their difficult patients?

Why not?

Why not explore a possible link between psoriasis and cancer?

Published by Update Publications Ltd

ISSN 0035-8797