

The Journal of The Royal College of General Practitioners

Volume 36

Number 288

July 1986

Editorials

- Towards a comprehensive child health service
- The future of community nursing
- Family conciliation services
- The election of the President

Original papers

- Paediatric developmental screening: a survey of general practitioners
- Stress self-help packages in primary care: a controlled trial evaluation
- The effectiveness of psychological intervention in primary care: a comparative analysis of outcome ratings
- Domiciliary consultation — who benefits?
- Further observations on seasonal variation.
 1. Osteoarthritis
- Further observations of seasonal variation.
 2. Depression

For debate

- The role of the school medical officer in secondary schools
- Can children's paintings of their doctors be interpreted?

Letters

News and reports

Primary care bookshelf

Classified advertisements and notices