ADDITIONS TO THE OXFORD GENERAL PRACTICE SERIES . . .

Research Methods for General Practitioners

David Armstrong, Michael Calnan, and John Grace

This book aims to provide a practical resource for general practitioners who wish to carry out their own research, taking the reader through the research process from the initial idea to publication of results.

AND NEW PRACTICAL GUIDES FOR GENERAL PRACTICE

On-Call: Out-of-Hours Telephone Calls and Home Visits

J. D. E. Knox

Out-of-hours work is an important and emotive issue in current general practice, and is largely ignored in other books. This book explores the issues, with practical exercises based on real out-of-hours calls.

Practical Guides for General Practice No. 9

0 19 261777 X, 76 pp., illus., paperback, July 1989
£5.95

Child Health: The Screening Tests

Aidan Macfarlane, Sue Sefi, and Mario Cordeiro

A practical working manual for GPs and health visitors carrying out child health surveillance. It is based on the National Child Health Surveillance programme recommended by a joint working party of the BPA, RCGP, HVA, GMSC, and RCN.

Practical Guides for General Practice No. 11

0 19 261768 0, 64 pp., illus., paperback, October 1989
