

The British Journal of General Practice

Editorials

- 178 Moving forward on research Alastair F Wright
 179 Statistics — with confidence? Ian Russell
 182 Good general practice — fellowship of the RCGP by assessment
Denis Pereira Gray
 183 Fifty up and still batting Alastair F Wright

Original papers

- 184 Longer booking intervals in general practice: effects on doctors' stress and arousal A Wilson, P McDonald, L Hayes and J Cooney
 188 The potential and limitations of opportunistic screening: data from a computer simulation of a general practice screening programme Paul Norman and Mike Fitter
 192 Sampling endocervical cells on cervical smears: a comparison of two instruments used in general practice
Cumbrian Practice Research Group
 194 Determinants of forearm bone density in premenopausal women: a study in one general practice Maria L Cox, S A Khan, D W Gau, S A L Cox and H M Hodkinson
 198 Patient participation in general practice: who participates?
Martyn Agass, Angela Coulter, David Mant and Alice Fuller
 202 Changes in practice morbidity between the 1970 and 1981 national morbidity surveys D M Fleming, K W Cross, L Garcia Olmos and D L Crombie
 207 Patients' views of the consultation: comparison of a prison and general practice population Edwin Martin, Daphne Russell and Sandra Goodwin
 210 Out of hours attendance in an army practice
N J Grundy-Wheeler

213 Letters

219 Book and video review

220 Classified advertisements

