

Post-Graduate Education

The Post-Graduate Education Committee of the Council have circularized all the faculties, post-graduate institutions and hospitals to ascertain what facilities for post graduate education are available. Replies, which have been received from all faculties, indicate that there is great activity in all parts of the country.

The provincial, Scottish and North Ireland hospitals offer comprehensive instruction for general practitioners. Concentrated 14-day courses, one-day meetings and symposias devoted to individual subjects, week-end courses and extended one-day-a-week courses are arranged.

In London, the teaching hospitals offer little, but the non-teaching hospitals in collaboration with the British Federation and Post Graduate Medical Studies arrange regular lectures, demonstrations and ward rounds.

Post-Graduate Courses

East Anglia Faculty

Post-graduate courses within the area consist of monthly Saturday symposia, from 10.30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Details can be obtained from The Secretary, The Medical School, Tennis Court Road, Cambridge. They are held at Addenbrooke's Hospital. The programme:—

May 14th	...	Paediatrics.
June 25th	...	Laboratory aids to diagnosis and treatment.
July 16th	...	Gastro-enterology.

South-West England Faculty

Bristol. Sunday morning lectures started on the 27th March, 1955. Neighbouring counties have been circularised through Executive Councils.

Exeter. The week-end course at Exeter, to be held in the Library of the Devon and Exeter Hospital at 2.30 p.m. from May 13th—15th (inclusive) will include a clinico-pathological conference as well as lectures on hypertension, paediatrics, valvotomy and the aetiology of cancer. Application should be made to Dr. A. H. Gale, Director of Medical Postgraduate Studies, The University, Bristol, 8, stating whether the grant is desired.

Gloucester and Cheltenham. Dr. J. B. H. Haslett has kindly agreed to organise a week-end course this summer. Particulars will be given later.